

Dear U.S. Commission on Ocean Policy,

Thank you so much for addressing this incredibly important subject. Please remember that the streams and rivers flow into the ocean, and that those waters are important fish runs and that the whetlands are also integral aspects of the sea's health. It is imperative that the health of the oceans be considered whenever industry or military uses are being promoted. The Navy's new planned and unnecessary anti-sub sonar system should never be allowed to be used due to the horrible damage it does to whales and the potential threats to sea life in general.

thank you.
Eric Wallen
